O QUE SÃO LENDAS?

The discovery of fire
A legend from Tierra del Fuego (South America)

Once upon a time, in Tierra del Fuego where it is told that once there lived two good Spirits : the brothers Loalox. A long time ago, the elder one found some stones, which he repeatedly beat against each other. One of these stones was a flintstone. And when he was playing with it a spark arose suddenly. Ioalox was surprised and tried again. Then he took a handful of dry feathers and dropped the spark on them. There was a flame. So he gathered dry grasses and woods, and put them on the flame: He had discovered the fire. He cried happily, "This is a great gift, I will make sure that the fire will always burn without ever dying down." But the younger Ioalox had other plans: "It is better if people have to toil for the fire and they must earn it in a hard way - otherwise they will get too comfortable.
The one who extinguishes the fire, should light the fire himself again." Said it and put out the fire.

Podemos observar que na lenda há a expressão a long time ago (Há muito tempo...), indicando que a história ocorreu no passado. Chamamos este tipo de expressão de marcador temporal.
