Conteúdo(s) desenvolvido(s): Reader's letter or Letter to the editor: Diferentes pontos de vista sobre o mesmo assunto.

- continuação

Dear student,

Agora você já sabe o que é e para que Carta de Leitor é escrita. Agora vamos tentar comparar pontos de vista. O que isso significa? Significa que cada autor vai escrever sobre o assunto de uma maneira já que as pessoas têm opiniões diferentes. Lembra sobre o que foram as cartas das aulas anteriores? Então... Vamos ver o que o autor da carta de hoje fala sobre um destes assuntos? Preste atenção se a opinião dele é igual ou diferente da opinião dos anteriores. Vamos lá!

Don't text and drive

I want to share a different perspective on texting and driving as our state transportation officials have been doing a lot of marketing on this safety issue lately.

I ride a bike for exercise and leisure. The other day I found myself anxious as several motorists passed me going about 55 mph with their cell phones in hand. I typically ride where there is a shoulder, in order to have a little bit of cushion but was unable to do that on that particular route. It would have taken drivers' just one brief look at Facebook or a text or answering a phone to carelessly clip me.

I ride with traffic — as legally required — so I'm not going to see motorists coming. I take responsibility as a bike rider. I keep myself alert, but I need motorists' help to ensure road safety. Runners, walkers and bikers are out at all hours of the day. Not texting while driving might not only prevent an accident with another car but could also prevent one with a pedestrian or cyclist.

When I leave my house on a ride, I want to return to my family — and not become a deadly statistic. Don't text and drive. It's not worth it.

Pam McKown, Hewitt

People not only are texting while driving, some are also watching movies and playing games on all kinds of devices while driving.

If your vehicle breaks down, stay safe by putting on your flashing lights, open your hood and trunk, and stand back from the vehicle while awaiting help. Stay safe, and be a defensive driver in these unsafe road times.
