After she prepared dinner, she went upstairs, where she found seven little beds. Each one had a name carved on it.

“What funny names for children,” said Snow White as she read the names aloud. “Happy, Dopey, Grumpy, Sneezy, Bashful, Doc and Sleepy.” She lay across the tiny beds and fell asleep.

In the evening, seven tiny men came home singing. When they opened the door, they were surprised. They saw a bowl of hot soup on the table, and the whole house was nice and clean. Upstairs was Snow White, fast asleep.

The chief dwarf woke her up. "Who are you?" he asked. Snow

White told them her sad story and tears came to the dwarfs' eyes.

"You can stay with us," said one of the dwarfs. "We will protect you." All the other dwarfs agreed.
